IF THE RESURRECTION IS TRUE,
it demands our whole life.

One of the challenges of life in the 21st century is the amount of information we are expected to keep up with. Newspapers, magazines, television, radio, business reports, emails, phone calls and the Internet—all bombard us with information. In terms of human history, this is relatively new. Some have argued that up until a few hundred years ago, it was possible for an educated person to know almost everything about almost everything. Before the railroad system came along, the fastest information travelled was the speed of a horse or a sailing ship. Now the information pipeline is instant, overwhelming and ever-expanding. It's hard to keep up.

Of course, remarkably little of what comes our way is important—and much of what is critical for today is forgotten within a week. This has led some to complain that they know everything about the last 24 hours, considerably less about the last 24 years, and next to nothing about the last 2,400 years. But some of what comes our way is important, and there is a risk that we will overlook it. All of this means that one of the key questions we face is this: What should I be paying attention to? What should I be focused on? What actually matters?

This Sunday morning, I would like to suggest that the Holy Communion, which we gather around to celebrate the resurrection of Jesus Christ, is one of the things you should focus on in life. It divides history in a way nothing else has. The world is radically different because of what Christ did. No one else has shaped the world as substantially as He has. Part of the reason for that is what He taught. Another part of the reason is because of what he claimed—that He was and is God. Yet another part of the reason is because of his followers' conviction that he conquered death.

Therefore, if the resurrection is true, it demands our whole life.

In-person Congregational Worship Service continues today (up to 150 persons MAXIMUM). Members who intend to worship in the church premises on Sunday are to register and submit the online form on the PPCOC website each week. A ballot may be conducted if necessary. You can join us in worship by going to www.ppcoc.org and clicking on "Live Streams" under the Resources tab. You can also click on the Donate tab to find out how to make bank transfers to the church for REBUILDING PLEDGES and offerings.

INTRODUCING 2020 NEW MEMBERS INTO THE FAMILY OF GOD AT PPCOC

Danzel Mariaraja
baptised on 6 Dec 2020

Hello everyone!

My name is Danzel & my parents are Grace and Michael Mariaraja.

I was introduced to Christ by my parents. From baby, I've attended bible class regularly and many church camps. (Fun fact: I was even the youngest camper once in 2010)

I wanted to become a Christian because I believe that Jesus is my saviour and Son of God who died for me.

Also, I didn't want to be lost if Christ came! I want to go to heaven with my parents.

I am not perfect, but I can do all things through Christ.

Thank you Church for helping me in my spiritual journey!

1 Corinthians 15:19

If in Christ we have hope in this life only, we are of all people most to be pitied. Colossians 1:27. To them God chose to make known how great among the Gentiles are the riches of the glory of this mystery, which is Christ in you, the hope of glory!

*Worship is the submission of all of our nature to God.
It is the quickening of conscience
by His holiness
Nourishment of mind by His truth
Purifying of imagination by His beauty
Opening of the heart to His love
And submission of will to His purpose.
All this gathered up in adoration is the greatest of all expressions of which we are capable.
William Temple*
