The Priests Who Bless | 7 May 2023

Who is the first person called a "priest" in the Bible? The answer may surprise you, because we would expect that the first priest would come from the family of Abraham, from the tribe of his great grandson, Levi. That's not the case; it's someone outside this family.

The first priest is a man from the land of Canaan, which at the time was still pagan. And yet, there is one called "the priest of God Most High" who blesses Abraham and who Abraham gives a tenth of all his possessions. And then he disappears from the story as abruptly as he enters it.

It seems that being God's royal priests has something to do with blessing others, including and especially people who aren't from "my tribe". May we recognise that calling in our lives and become royal priests who bless!
