Sunday Morning Worship

The Promise of Joy | 15 December 2024

When I (John) was a boy, I didn't enjoy studying. All I wanted to do was to play Pokemon all day long. Then my mother said that she would allow me some play time for every practice paper I completed. All of a sudden, I wanted to study - well, not really. I tolerated the study, but it didn't give me joy. I only looked forward to what came after the study.

But over time, I began to enjoy the process of studying and completing practice papers for its own sake. It brought me joy to grow in knowledge and proficiency, and to be less stressed nearing examination periods.

I think that Christian joy works the same way. We may start off following Jesus because of the benefits we think we'll get - eternity in heaven, a life without suffering, success and peace and so forth. But as we grow deeper in Christ, we realise that true joy isn't what Jesus gives us, but the person and presence of Jesus Himself.
