Sunday Morning Worship

Exorcise in the Eremos | 23 March 2025

Here's a fun fact: back in ancient Greece, someone who kept to themselves and avoided other people was said to be "idios", from which we get the modern word "idiot"! It was thought that since humans are naturally social creatures, people who are always by themselves must have something wrong with them.

While we don't use such labels today, we still tend to view people who wander through life alone as "odd", and we often keep our distance from them. Jesus, however, doesn't avoid such people, but is powerfully drawn towards them. He loves them into wholeness, and we believe that He has given us the same power – to meet people wandering in the wilderness and love them into wholeness.

What shall we do with that power?
